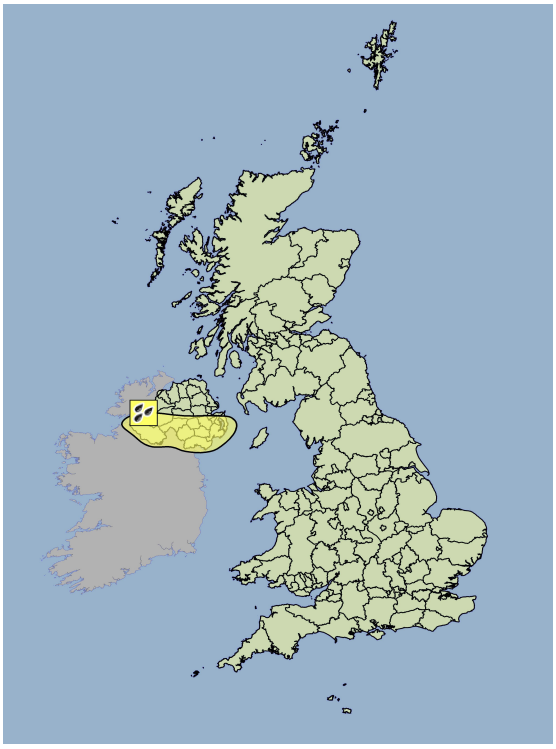
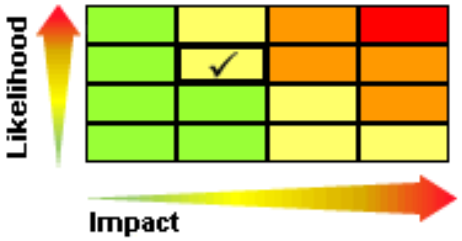
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A cold front is expected to become slow moving for a time during Monday night and into Tuesday. Rainfall on the front is likely to be heavy and persistent at times, with a risk of localised flooding. The cold front will finally clear away during Tuesday morning, with rain dying out by early afternoon.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 21:00 on Mon, 22nd Dec 2014 until 12:00 on Tue, 23rd Dec 2014

A period of occasionally heavy rain is expected to develop during Monday night and then last through much of Tuesday morning. Rainfall totals of 15-25 mm can be expected widely, with as much as 40 mm over high ground.

The public should be aware of the risk of localised flooding and potential disruption to travel.
